

FAQ's BEFORE ARRIVAL

I have been selected by my home University, what do I need to do now?

As soon as we receive the e-mail of your University with your official nomination we will contact you and send instructions about our online application: <http://sl.ugr.es/0bs6>

Which are the language requirements?

We are a Faculty whose teaching is fully in Spanish, as it is the case for all of the other faculties of University of Granada as well. Therefore, you are required to have a good grasp of Spanish (written, spoken, and listened) to be able to meet the courses' demands successfully.

Exceptionally, we do offer the following courses taught in ENGLISH:

- Faculty of Political Sciences and Sociology: <http://sl.ugr.es/0b8N>
- Other faculties of the University of Granada: <http://sl.ugr.es/0bUg>

Our system is very time-demanding in terms of weekly hours of lecturing. Hence, the relevance to be competent to follow lectures in Spanish. Our teaching staff won't be able to make any language adjustments for those international students unable to work in Spanish as any other national student does.

Although no Spanish Language Certificate is compulsory so far, it is highly recommended to have at least a B1 level in order to survive ☺

While applying online you would be asked to upload a certificate of Spanish in case you would count on it (just for statistical purposes).

Can I choose courses at other Faculties?

You would be able to choose courses taught at other Faculties always provided there are free places available (something we will know only at the moment when enrolling on them).

When filling in the online application (deadline 30th of May/31 October), only courses taught at our Faculty are listed. Therefore, in case you would like to follow courses at other Faculties, you would need to register for them once you are in Granada, which can cause problems as far as availability goes. In any case, you can include these courses on your Learning Agreement.

How do I proceed with my Learning Agreement?

OLA is not available at our University yet. Therefore, we will proceed as in previous years:

- You should fill in your LA by using your Home University template.
- Then you send it by e-mail (once it is signed by the coordinator of your own University) to oriccps@ugr.es.
- We will return it signed by our International Academic Responsible, the Vicedean for Internationalization, Guadalupe Martínez Fuentes, by the end of May (and always before your arrival in Granada).

Here you can check academic information available through the following links:

- Degree in Administration and Political Sciences
- Degree in Sociology

When will I receive my acceptance letter?

Although the platform will send an acceptance email, we will send an acceptance letter as soon as validation of application has been done (July for students starting in September and December for students starting in February).

Can I select Master Level courses?

In most Spanish universities bachelor degrees run over 4 years and masters are 1 year (while in most European universities the structure is 3+2).

Furthermore, courses offered at undergraduate level are completely separated from those offered at postgraduate level.

What some of our partners do, aware of this 4+1 structure, is that they send master students through a Bilateral Agreement for undergraduate level and then, they validate the students’ credits as master level. However, it is always up to each coordinator.

Exceptionally, incoming students are able to enroll in one or two courses taught in the different masters offered by UGR (a maximum of 6 ECTS per semester).

Procedure is the same as when selecting courses at other Faculties (including it in the Learning Agreement and getting the approval from the Coordinator of the Master).

Here is the link to the academic offer at master level.

How many credits can I select when combining Bachelor-Master courses?

Number of credits and requisites needed to apply for Master studies will vary depending on the agreement under which you have been nominated:

- If you are a Master student at your University and your nomination at UGR has been done under an agreement for Bachelor studies, you could register in course modules of Master studies at UGR with a maximum of 6 ECTS if your mobility period is of 4 months and a maximum of 12 ECTS if your mobility period is of a full academic year. Remember, always provided that you receive the confirmation from the corresponding coordinator of the Master at UGR. In any case, all procedures should be done through our Faculty.
- If you have been nominated under an agreement for Master level, admission procedures should be carried out through Escuela Internacional de Posgrado (epinternacional@ugr.es). In this case, it is compulsory to have a B1 level of Spanish or English, depending on the language of instruction of the subjects you would like to apply for. You would be able to include 6 ECTS credits (12 for full year) taught in one or more Bachelor Degrees.
